Army open-air tests of five nerve gases told

Astronauts practice tricky maneuvers needed to land "bug"

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Easing a spindly-legged space craft onto the surface of the moon will be a tricky business and astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin are rehearsing for it relentlessly as the time draws near for their lunar landing mission.

Today's work schedule for the Apollo 11 astronauts had Armstrong and Aldrin — the Americans who will walk on the moon — practicing again in a simulator the critical phases of their flight in the lunar module. The other Apollo 11 astronaut, Michael Collins, went jet flying.

Collins will pilot the command spacecraft in orbit around the moon while his companions fly the lunar vehicle to the surface. He hoped the ride in a T38 jet trainer would sharpen him for the space journey.

On the launch pad, a 12-hour hold in the Apollo countdown was called at 11 p.m. EDT Friday to give ground crews a break from the demanding tasks of readying the Saturn booster and its spacecraft payload for the scheduled 9:32 a.m. Wednesday launch.

A space agency spokesman said that tiny crystals which showed up in a cooling solution used in the spacecraft and a leaky seal in a nitrogen gas line on the launch stand were not serious problems. But the seal and the solution were replaced.

As the weekend arrived, nearby Cocoa Beach and the other towns around the space port were filling up fast with visitors hoping to find a spot to watch the big show.

Motels as far off as Orlando, 50 miles inland, were full, camp grounds were overflowing, rental car companies were running out of autos, and by Wednesday morning the beaches should be packed with "birdwatchers."

The space agency expects some 10,000 official guests, including former President Lyndon B. Johnson — invited by President Nixon — and at least 300 members of Congress and their families.

The astronauts have been in near quarantine at the spaceport, where they live in special quarters during their weeks of pre-launch training. Doctors want to make sure they are not "contaminated" with organisms abnormal to their systems before they leave on their adventure. When they return, they will be carefully checked to make sure they have not brought home any unknown "bug."

After today, the Apollo crewmen will take Sunday off and then ease out of their tough training schedule for the final two days before launch.

Only last weekend, mission commander Armstrong was asked which concerned him more — landing on the moon or taking off from it.

"The descent is a good bit more difficult, it's true, than the ascent," Armstrong said.

"But you have more ways out of difficulty should you encounter it. You have a second engine to go to, you have an alternative guidance system, you have some alternatives available to you. The ascent, although simpler, has neither alternative, so I would have to give them about an equal balance."

Aldrin said that "going back up from the surface is relatively simple—we've done this thing many times, we do it when we leave the earth."

But he said that coming in for a landing on the moon, "you're reaching a point of diminishing fuel at that point and your systems are more complex in the descent stage than they are in the ascent stage."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pentagon documents showed today the Army plans — and already may have conducted — increased open air testing of five deadly nerve gases, including one that killed 6,000 sheep last year near the Dugway proving grounds in Utah.

In the documents, which showed the tests were slated to begin last March and continue through September, the Army confirmed it was resuming its experiments at Dugway and revealed for the first time that open air tests were planned at Fort McClellan, Ala., and the Edgewood Arsenal, about 25 miles northeast of Baltimore, Md.

Officials at the Defense Department refused to say whether any of the tests scheduled actually had taken place yet.

The documents were provided by the Army at the request of Rep. Henry S. Reuss, who released them Friday. Reuss D-Wis., is chairman of a House subcommittee on conservation and natural resources that has been investigating the possible dangers of outdoor testing with chemical and biological warfare agents. All the tests listed by the Army involved only chemical agents.

It was before the Reuss subcommittee the Army admitted last May that a nerve gas identified simply as "VX" killed, 6,000 sheep in a testing accident at Dugway in March, 1968.

In a statement Friday night the Pentagon said Dr. K. C. Emerson, acting deputy assistant secretary of the Army for research and development, told the subcommittee "why it is essential to conduct open air toxic agent testing." The Pentagon said Emerson testified May 21 that "open air testing is necessary to validate predictions of capabilities concerning movement, direction and deposition of agents."

Although the Army documents indicated the tests scheduled at Fort McClellan were insignificant and limited to training for troops, they listed extensive plans to test VX and other gases at the Edgewood Arsenal through the use of artillery shells, ground fixtures, land mines and "bombs."

News of the operations at Edgewood prompted Rep. Clarence Long, D-Md., to call for a temporary halt in open air testing of lethal gases.

"I think this testing of lethal nerve gases in the open air should stop until a full exploration has been made by the Congress of all the implications," he said. "There is nothing so urgent in the chemical biological warfare race that we can't take the time to find out what all this means."

The most extensive series of tests were scheduled at Dugway and involved the use of rocket warheads. A spokesman for the Reuss subcommittee said he could not determine whether this meant any nerve gas was to be exploded at a high altitude.

When he unveiled the new documents, Reuss praised the Army for its decision to release what previously had been labeled classified information. But he noted at the same time that "the Army is continuing to classify and withhold information such as type, nature, quantity, height of release and similar data on chemical munitions under development."

County increases aid to libraries

County supervisors have increased the per capita support for library operations 10 per cent, eliminating the financial bind that had threatened a curtailment of service in Lompoc Library.

The supervisors voted 5-0 yesterday to increase the support from the previous $2 to $2.20. Five per cent of the new per capita fee is retained in the county general fund, leaving a balance of $2.09 per capita for library operations.

Lompoc library is funded by the county's per capita fee, plus a 15-cent library tax paid by residents of the City of Lompoc. The combination of support will provide the library with about $153,000 for the fiscal operation, including an approximate 7½ per cent pay increase in two increments and maintenance of the present level of library services.

Lompoc Library has 11 employees, plus part time pages. It is located on East North Avenue has a current average monthly circulation of 18,000 books.

Egyptian-Israeli forces engage in hot fighting

By United Press International
Egyptian and Israeli forces battled across the Suez Canal today in what Cairo reported was a "heavy" artillery duel. Israeli spokesmen reported clashes along the cease-fire lines with Jordan and Syria.

Cairo radio quoted military spokesmen as saying the artillery duel erupted near Suez City at the Southern end of the canal. It said Egyptian guns "are silencing the enemy fire" but added the battle was still in process during the late afternoon.

In Tel Aviv, a military spokesman reported four Arab guerrillas were killed in two separate skirmishes during the night. He said Soviet-made weapons were found near the scene of one of the clashes.

Three guerrillas were killed in a shoot-out shortly before midnight Friday near Nahal Shir, at the foot of Mt. Hebron in the Israeli occupied Golan Heights area, the spokesman said.

Nearby Israelis found several Soviet made rifles, a plastic mine and a quantity of hand grenades, he said.

In the other clash, Israeli soldiers opened fire on Arab guerrillas moving in an area described by the spokesman as the northern Jordan Valley and killed one.

The spokesman reported "a number" of Soviet made Katyusha rockets today hit the Israeli settlement of Yotvata in the Arava desert causing some damage. He said they were fired from across the Jordan River.

The spokesman said there were no Israeli casualties in any of the incidents. In Cairo, Egypt's semi-official newspaper Al Ahran said France would frustrate the Big Four peace efforts in the Middle East if it relaxed its total arms embargo against Israel.

In an editorial, the newspaper said President Georges Pompidou was under great pressure to lift the full embargo. It added such a move would only hurt efforts to find a lasting peace and urged that the embargo, "which has earned so much esteem in the Arab world," be continued.

In other Middle East developments: —Joseph J. Sisco, U.S. undersecretary of state for near eastern affairs, left Paris today for Moscow and scheduled talks on the Mideast with Kremlin officials. He met Friday with French foreign minister Maurice Schumann.

—Israel replied to U.N. Secretary General Thant's report that open warfare has been resumed along the Suez Canal by saying that the blame rested solely on the Arabs. Ambassador Joseph Tekoah added Israeli forces were under strict orders to avoid harming U.N. observers or installations.

—Israeli Premier Mrs. Golda Meir told a public rally in Haifa Friday night that any split in the ruling United Labor party was inconceivable. "How could we explain it to our boys, fighting on all fronts, that the party broke up over issues of political philosophy," she said.

Stanford grows human skin by artificial means

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Stanford University medical research team today reported it has actually reconstructed human skin by tissue grown under artificial conditions.

Dr. William T. Summerlin of the Stanford University School of Medicine told a meeting of dermatologists that skin grown in laboratory cultures for periods up to six weeks acted as a source of new skin cells to fight ulcers or burns. Eight patients at Stanford University Hospital have been received grafts grown in test tubes and have been studied with the new experimental technique, for periods of 4 to 15 months, he said.

The team reported that four days after implantation of the cultured skin, epithelial cells had multiplied and formed a layer on the wound sites. On the third week, the cells in the transplant area had organized into a typical wound healing type of epidermis with normal cells and structure. By the sixth week the patients' wounds had healed and were covered by normal skin.

"We have shown conclusively that epidermal cells can be maintained in tissue culture for periods up to six weeks and that they can be transplanted successfully," Summerlin said.

Higher rate proposed for savings bonds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Treasury Department has proposed a $390 million increase in annual earnings for the thousands of Americans who have invested $52 billion in savings bonds.

The Treasury spelled out the details of its plan to ask Congress to increase from 4½ to 5 per cent the interest rate on savings bonds.

"A rate increase is necessary to be fair to a great number of savers who have faithfully bought bonds over a long period of time," said Paul A. Volcker, Treasury undersecretary for monetary affairs.

At the same time, the Treasury said, it will ask Congress to remove the 4½ per cent ceiling on the interest the government may pay on longterm "marketable" bonds sold through commercial money markets.

Volcker said the Treasury wants the ceiling removed to provide added flexibility in management of the national debt. But he said the government has "no immediate plans" to sell longterm bonds at current inflated interest rates.

Back from dead

Ukiah teen-ager makes cynics talk of miracles

UKIAH, Calif. (UPI) — A 19-year-old girl has made cynics talk of miracles here. It's almost two years since Susan Bartolomei was kidnaped, savagely beaten and raped, shot five times then dumped on a country highway in Northern California to die.

But despite these atrocities she's lucky — lucky to possess a will to live so strong that she's learning to walk and talk once more and dares to wonder if she will ever be able to bowl again.

On the quiet summer evening of Aug. 21, 1967, Susan's pleasant high school life was plunged into chaos by two Washington State drifters.

Susan and her boyfriend, Timothy Luce, both 17, were stranded outside Luce's auto which had run out of gas. The two drifters, Thomas E. Braun and Leonard E. Maine, both 18, stopped to give the couple a ride. It was the last ride for Luce, who was shot to death.

After being repeatedly assaulted and shot — twice in the head — Susan was discovered in a gully beside Highway 120 near Groveland in the Sierra foothills. Somehow, she had survived although some wondered whether it was a blessing.

She lay in a coma for months. Even her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Bartolomei, lost hope that she would ever know them or talk again. But Susan began to rally.

She spent seven months at the University of California Medical Center, regained consciousness, was transferred to a Ukiah hospital then taken home.

Her doctors once believed she was hopelessly paralyzed from the chest down. Now she takes a few steps every evening, while holding on to someone at either side. Though her vocal cords were removed when paralysis put her in danger of choking, she can now talk with the aid of a voice vibrator.

Susan gets out in her wheelchair now as often as possible and has been shopping with her mother a number of times, as well as attending the local theater twice and even to a fair.

"It's amazing what people can do for themselves," Mrs. Bartolomei said. "She is determined to get well."

"My husband and I don't know too much about therapy," she said shyly, "but we do what we can to help. And I can say, we do appreciate all the prayers and thoughts for her. It means a lot."

Mrs. Bartolomei said school officials are anxious that Susan get her high school diploma. She had only one year to go before the ordeal.

Crazy weather

Not knowing whether to bring out the bathing suit, or the rain coat, Lompocans today were faced with rain and 70 degree temperatures in the early morning hours.

El Capitan State Park this morning reported showers, with clearing and warm temperatures expected by late morning or early afternoon.

Vandenberg AFB weather reported variable high clouds today and tonight, with some drizzles later this evening.

Variable winds at 10 knots were expected. Low today was 54 degrees. Tides for Sunday, July 13 and Monday, July 14 will be high tides of 3.6 at 11:38 a.m. and 6.1 at 9:56 p.m. Sunday. Low tides Sunday will be minus 0.5 at 4:56 a.m. and 2.6 at 3:38 p.m.

High tide Monday will be 6.0 at 10:32 p.m. Low tides will be minus 0.6 at 5:26 a.m. and 2.6 at 4:14 p.m.

'People's Park' death is justifiable homicide

By IRA RIFKIN
OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—A coroner's jury has ruled the death of James B. Rector justifiable homicide by an "unknown and unidentified" Alameda County Sheriff's deputy.

The unanimous verdict Friday by a six-man, one-woman jury declared Rector, who died from buckshot wounds suffered May 15 during the battle over the "People's Park" in Berkeley, was shot "during the suppression of a riot."

Ted Jarvis, attorney for Rector's mother, Mrs. Delores Clifford of San Jose, Calif., announced immediately after the verdict that he would press a $100,000 civil damage suit for the death of the 25-year-old youth.

The jurors, chosen from a list drawn up by the coroner's staff, all refused to make any comment on the verdict they reached after only 38 minutes of deliberation.

In testimony during the inquest, an Alameda County Sheriff's deputy said he may "very possibly" have been the officer who fired the fatal shotgun blast of .00 buckshot. Deputy Leonard N. Johnson Jr. testified he fired twice at persons throwing objects at officers from rooftops the day 2,000 students and hippies clashed with hundreds of police over a fenced-in vacant lot.

Johnson, speaking nervously, said his squad was marching up the street and confronted "a riotous crowd in front of us and these people were throwing things at us."

Johnson said he saw "many people" on the rooftops. Pointing to a drawing showing the building Rector was standing on, he said:

"There were three or four persons right up here. I saw one of these people rear back his arm and throw something at the officers."

"I fired in the direction of that person. I wanted to get that person away from the front end of that building. I don't know if I hit anyone."

"I'm the only officer I know about who fired buckshot towards that roof."

"My head was turning about the time I fired that round. We were moving at all times and my attention went to this other building where I saw another person throw a rock. I fired again at this person..."

Applications for Job Corps open

Applications are now being accepted by the Department of Employment for enrollment in the Job Corps.

The Job Corps is a national voluntary program made possible by the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 that will give young people a new chance to help themselves.

Young men from the age of 16 through 21 years, who are largely unemployed because they lack the education and job skills necessary to get and hold a job are urged to call WA 5-8686 and ask for the Job Corps opportunity specialist.

Testimony in 'sniper' shooting taken in L.A.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Police "didn't give him a chance," a witness testified at a coroner's inquest into the fatal shooting of an innocent man police thought was a freeway sniper.

Alton Butler, 53, testifying into the events leading up to the fatal shooting of Donald Lee Oughton, 29, June 11, said Friday the officers jumped from their car with guns drawn.

He said they were close enough to Oughton to grab him, but they "just started shooting."

Butler testified Oughton was walking quickly, not running, down an alley when the patrol car approached using its red light and siren.

He said the officers jumped out of the car and "started shooting." He said he did not hear the officers say anything to Oughton before they fired.

Other officers who arrived at the scene shortly after the shooting chased spectators away, Butler said. "They said they didn't want no damn witnesses," he said. "They were running people away from the corner."

Butler said the officer behind Oughton fired first. "They got him from the back," he said, adding that no warning shots were fired.

Another witness described Oughton as having the mentality of a boy rather than a man. He said Oughton told him he was hurrying home to watch the wrestling matches on television shortly before he was killed.

Police have said that Oughton was acting suspiciously and was in the area where a freeway sniper had reportedly been firing on cars.

The officers who stopped Oughton claimed they approached him to question him when he suddenly reached into his back pocket. One officer thought Oughton was going for a gun and fired, wounding his partner in the hand.

The partner, thinking Oughton had fired, drew his pistol and shot Oughton.

It turned out the victim was reaching for his wallet containing an identity card which he used because a speech impediment made it difficult for him to make himself understood. He was not armed.

COALS TO NEWCASTLE
CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis. (UPI)—Bob Hamm, owner of Hamm's Cheese House here, has sent Cmdr. Neil Armstrong a supply of cheddar cheese to take along on the Apollo 11 lunar landing.

Hamm said he was sure the astronauts would enjoy the dairy product on their way to the moon.

"And if there are living beings on the moon," Hamm said, "there just may be a sample left for them."

Red artillery blasts Division where GIs readying for home

By WALTER WHITEHEAD
SAIGON (UPI)—Communist artillerymen today twice blasted the U.S. 9th Infantry Division headquarters where GIs are processing to return to the United States, killing one soldier and wounding seven others who were going home Sunday.

Waves of U.S. B52 bombers dropped more than 700 tons of explosives in Tay Ninh Province northwest of Saigon in an apparent effort to forestall any new Communist offensive northwest of Saigon.

U.S. military sources said they believe Tay Ninh would be a prime target of an expected Communist offensive of "substantial intensity" before the end of the month.

Tay Ninh is 11 miles from the border of Cambodia, which Communist troops have used as a sanctuary.

In the A Shau Valley paratroopers of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division lost five killed and 20 wounded in two battles with North Vietnamese troops Friday. The Americans killed three North Vietnamese.

The shelling of the 9th Division headquarters at Dong Tam 37 miles southwest of Saigon was one of 27 such attacks throughout South Vietnam by the Communists.

One 107mm rocket exploded outside the processing center for GIs returning to the United States from the 9th Division. The explosion killed two American GIs and wounded 21 other servicemen and a civilian. One of the soldiers killed and seven of the wounded were members of the 4th Battalion, 47th Infantry which leaves for home Sunday as part of President Nixon's plan to withdraw 25,000 U.S. troops by Aug. 20.

The withdrawal of the 4th Battalion along with an 814-man battalion which returned to the U.S. last Tuesday will bring to more than 1,700 the number of Americans troops returned from Vietnam under Nixon's plan.

An advance party of 110 U.S. Marines flew from South Vietnam's northern quarter to Okinawa Thursday. They will prepare for the reception of the Marines' 9th Regimental landing team.

The Communists fired two 122mm rockets into Hue, the old imperial capital 390 miles northeast of Saigon but government spokesmen said there were neither casualties nor damage.

A Communist terrorist threw a grenade into a U.S. truck carrying Vietnamese employees near Tuy Hoa city 230 miles northeast of Saigon Friday. The blast killed two of the Vietnamese and wounded five others.

U.S. military spokesmen said the first attack on the 9th Division headquarters produced no casualties. Later the headquarters came under rocket and mortar assault.

The U.S. Command said the 9th Division's latest elements to return to the United States will leave Bien Hoa Air Base near Saigon Sunday for McChord AFB at Tacoma, Wash.

The National Liberation Front (NLF) said Friday the Viet Cong had killed or put out of action 145,000 American troops in the first months of the year.

Newton named to Convar position

Veteran aerospace engineer Kenneth E. Newton has been named director of launch vehicle programs for the Convar division of General Dynamics. It was announced today by Jack L. Bowers, general manager of the Convar division.

Newton replaces Grant L. Hansen who resigned to become assistant secretary of the Air Force for Research and Development.

In his new post, Newton is responsible for all launch vehicle activities. These include the high-energy Centaur upper stage vehicle program, the Atlas space booster program, the program for research use of former Atlas weapon system vehicles and advanced launch vehicle programs. He directs activities located in San Diego, Cape Kennedy and Vandenberg Air Force Base.

Newton was formerly manager of operations for the Convar division at Cape Kennedy for five years. He was responsible for all division activity there including checkout and launch of Atlas and Centaur space launch vehicles which sent Lunar Orbiter and Surveyor spacecraft to the moon, orbited Gemini target vehicles, Orbiting Astronomical Observatory, and applications Technology Satellites; and sent Mariner fly-by spacecraft to Venus and Mars.

Weather loses its 'cool'; wet, sweltering, stormy

By United Press International
The Midwest was waterlogged, the South sweltered and Southern California, believe it or not, had a thunderstorm in the middle of summer.

Local reaction reflected considerable divergence of emotion.

"My God, that can't be rain," a Los Angeles resident exclaimed.

"It's the worst flood we've ever had," a Chelsea, Iowa official moaned.

Residents of Dixie, suffering through a ferocious heat wave, just panted.

Clear skies dominated the Midwest today for the first time in weeks. Friday, however, more heavy rain added to flooding which has caused millions of dollars in damage in Iowa and Illinois.

The Iowa River spilled hip-deep through Chelsea, a community of 500 persons. Street Commissioner Leonard Klenk said about 25 persons were rescued from flooded homes and about 30 more would have to be removed.

Hundreds of persons were homeless after flooding in Marshalltown, Iowa. A dozen Indians were forced from their homes on the Mesquakie Reservation near Tama, and the swollen Mississippi was chewing at dikes in Chester, Ill., where the river was 7.5 feet above flood stage and rising.

California residents were more than surprised by the thunderstorm which hit the Los Angeles area Friday. Lightning touched off grass fires and cut power to the International Airport for 34 minutes. Many departing flights were delayed when the airport could not supply external power needed to fuel aircraft and start their engines.

The South and Southwest were generally hot Friday. Memphis, Tenn., reported a 103-degree reading. Phoenix, Ariz., and Little Rock, Ar., at HOUSTON (UPI)—A notice sent to members of the Nottingham Forest Social Club announced the club picnic would feature a "sin-along" and "awards" will be given for all events.

104, Las Vegas, Nev., logged 105, but two California points took the day's honors—Needles, at 111, and Blythe at 109.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms dampened the Southeast and the Southern Rockies early today. A few light sprinkles dotted the Pacific Northwest.

The area from the Far West to the Midwest, however, had clear, tranquil weather.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 48 at Sexton Summit, Ore., to 95 at Needles and Blythe, Calif.

Senate investigating $650,000 lobby pact

By DENNIS J. OPATRYN
SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The powerful Senate Rules Committee has started looking into how a lobbyist landed a $650,000 contract to provide legislative newsletters.

Sen. Robert S. Stevens, a new member of rules, said he will seek to determine if the current newsletter arrangement is the best available to lawmakers.

Stevens, R-Los Angeles, and Sen. Clair W. Burgener, R-San Diego, gained seats on rules last week during a purge by Senate "Young Turks" led by President pro tempore Howard Way.

Way and his backers ousted "old guard" rules members Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, and Sen. Jack Schrade, R-San Diego, as part of their plan to "minimize" lobbyist influence in the legislature.

McCarthy had been chairman of the Rules Committee's Subcommittee on Communications, which had awarded a contract valued at $650,000 to Kenneth A. Ross Jr., of Los Angeles to provide the newsletters.

But when the Way backers took over, the new Senate leader appointed Stevens "to work closely with the Senate communications program on newsletters and questionnaires."

That was Way's manner of asking for a probe in the situation.

"We've had some complaints and questions as to the efficiency of the present operation," Stevens told a newsman. "We want to find out if this is the best way to do it or if it should be done here in the buildings."

Ross, 46, is also a lobbyist for contractors and cement firms. He began his computerized newsletter operation in 1967.

Depressing world news puts damper on Market

By EDWARD CRAIG
UPI Business Writer
NEW YORK (UPI)—News on the international and domestic fronts was depressing this week and stock prices turned down in one of the sharpest losses of the year.

Growing fears about the Middle East situation touched off by remarks of U.N. Secretary General Thant and about the domestic economy indicated by remarks of Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy were the major depressants.

The market turned down on each of the first four days, then finished mixed on Friday in what some analysts described as a technical reaction to the prolonged slide during which many issues became oversold.

Many felt the market's action for the week virtually ended the chances of a summer rally which had appeared promising after the market's gain the week before.

Trading generally was uninspired with turnover remaining under 10,000,000 shares for the first three days, and rising above this level for the final two days. It was one of the slowest weeks this year. Some analysts noted investor desertaion of the stock market for the somewhat more certain future of bond prices.

The market turned increasingly bearish when Kennedy again warned that price and wage controls could be an alternative to Congressional failure to pass the income tax surcharge extension. Selling intensified.

The uneasiness inspired by Kennedy's remarks continued even though the White House said it had no intention of imposing wage-price controls.

Yet developments within the Senate Finance Committee, which is considering the measure, continued to make Wall Street nervous. With the Democrats insisting the proposal be tied to tax reform, there were indications it would be months before Congress completed action on the surcharge.

The major purpose of the surtax is to relieve some of the inflationary pressure on the economy. As a result, inflation is considered a boon to the stock market, the theory being the more money available for spending, the more will find its way into securities.

Still, Wall Street fears that a delay on the surcharge could mean an economic bind that would be bad for it as well as the country generally. Thus speedy Congressional action on the measure would be cheering to the securities markets.

The UPI stock market indicator finished with a loss of 4.52 to 109.41 on 1,708 issues traded. Of these, declines outnumbered advances, 1,349 to 259. There were 503 issues which set new lows, 15 at new highs.

The New York Stock Exchange index indicated a loss of $2.16 in the average common share price. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index finished 3.84 on the losing side at 95.77.

The Dow Jones industrial average lost more than twice as much as it had gained in the previous week — 33.87 to 852.25. In the week before, with only four sessions because of the July 4 holiday, the average had risen 16.32. The DJ rail component fell 6.72, the utility component 1.99.

Volume for the four sessions was 51,806,580 shares against 40,000,390 the holiday week before and 62,503,850 in the year ago week.

LAFCO executive officer to resign post Aug. 31

Resignation of John P. Whittemore, executive officer of the Local Agency Formation Commission, and county director of intergovernmental services, was announced today.

Whittemore said he planned to end his 15-year career with county government Aug. 31. He said he is considering "several offers" made to him in the South Coast area and elsewhere.

His resignation comes at a time when LAFCO has just been requested to embark on a major study to guide the booming Goleta Valley as to its further governmental course.

The East Goleta Valley Citizens Assn. has asked LAFCO to draw up a report to provide guidelines to citizens there as to whether they should incorporate, be annexed to Santa Barbara, remain as is, or try to set up a combination of incorporation of a major area and annexation of the east valley area to the city.

Co. tax rate teeters at $2.37 after week of public hearings

The 1969-70 county tax rate seemed to be teetering around the $2.37 mark late Friday after the Board of Supervisors wound up an exhausting week of hearings on the proposed record $45.9 million budget.

This would be five cents over the current rate.

But even veteran Auditor A. T. Eaves Jr. said he could not venture an opinion as to the current status of the tax rate, pending further revenue schedule revisions and other budget adjustments expected to be made during the coming week.

In Friday's session, the board voted down a host of special budget appropriations sought by both South Coast and north county groups, unbending only long enough to approve 3-2 a $36,000 emergency fund to help Alpha School, a Santa Barbara area school for handicapped children, out of a financial dilemma for this year only.

It also beat down by a 3-2 vote a third bid in two years by two supervisors to divert big slices of road department funds to the county general fund, as a move to bring down the tax rate which earlier this year threatened to rise about 26 cents above the present $2.32 rate.

Claiming road deficiencies are bad enough now, a majority on the board defeated the move to transfer $248,000 of road funds to the general fund. This would have been equivalent to four cents on the tax rate.

It was a bookkeeping move, finally, which allowed the supervisors to make some headway.

On a motion by Supervisor

Daniel G. Grant, the board agreed to insert $295,000 on the revenue side to provide for state reimbursement of flood and storm costs incurred by the county last winter. This amounts to 4.9 cents on the property tax side and was recommended by the County Taxpayers Assn.

Supervisors Joe J. Callahan and Grant led the onslaught to divert road funds. They compromised and asked that only 35 per cent of the allowable $355,000 be transferred this year. But north county board members, chairman Francis H. Beattie, and Curtis Tunnell, opposed the move and had the support, as before, from Supervisor George H. Clyde of the Carpinteria-Montecito district.

Clyde, Tunnell and Beattie said they could not take very seriously even the report from a County Farm Bureau official that the Farm Bureau directors approved transfer of the funds. Robert Hunt, secretary of the Farm Bureau, said farmers felt they could endure worse roads this year better than higher taxes and high assessed valuations. The three supervisors said they also felt farmers and others in rural areas were among the first to complain if roads were sub-standard.

The board also gave approval to a $2.6 million capital outlay fund for the fiscal year, as revised by Public Works Director Norman Caldwell.

Organizations found the going rough as they pleaded for special appropriations. The board turned down the following requests: A Child's Estate (Santa Barbara children's park and zoo) $25,000; Santa Barbara Municipal Band, $3,000; Kiwanis Club work program for handicapped, $15,000; Goleta Historical Society, $250; Santa Maria Mental Health, $8,000; St. Vincent's Day Nursery of Santa Barbara, $18,720, and Santa Barbara Presidio restoration, $10,000.

The county library budget was upped 10 per cent on the pleadings of librarians, library board representatives and Friends of the Library who told supervisors that salaries, supplies and equipment costs were caught in an inflationary spiral and services could not be reduced at this time.

AGNES VAN METER was the center of attention yesterday as city planning commission commissioners and planning department personnel fêted her on retirement as planning secretary. Surrounding her, left, to right are Commissioner William Paulin, Clinton Sherrod, planning director; Commissioner Sol Lefkowitz, and Michael Bauer, planning assistant. Mrs. Van Meter completed two years with the city department Thursday. She will move with her husband to Bouse, Ariz. Other planning personnel including Commissioner Robert Kranig, and other city officials joined the celebration for luncheon.

Sterilization rule made by court

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The 3rd District Court of Appeal has declared that voluntary nontherapeutic sterilization is legal.

The three-judge court unanimously said Friday, "California has no public policy prohibiting consensual sterilization and (we) further hold that nontherapeutic surgical sterilization operations are legal in this state where competent consent has been given."

But the court refused to affirm a Shasta County superior court ruling that counties must pay for the sterilization surgery for medically indigent—a person unable to pay his medical bills.

Superior Court Judge Richard Abbe last year had ruled in favor of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jessin who brought the suit against Shasta County seeking payment for the operation. The county appealed the judgment to the higher court.

Civil Liberties Union takes on S. B. oil fight

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The American Civil Liberties Union is seeking a court order to prevent further drilling for oil in the Santa Barbara Channel, scene of a massive oil slick last January.

Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel and four oil companies with offshore operations in the channel are the principal defendants in the suit filed Thursday in Superior Court.

More than 100,000 gallons of raw petroleum leaked into the channel last January when an offshore well being drilled by Union Oil Co. blew out.

A presidential commission recommended resumption of drilling after hearing testimony that the only sure way to prevent future leaks was to drain the oil from pools under the ocean floor.

The suit was filed on behalf of 17 residents of Santa Barbara County where beaches and rocks were smeared with crude oil. The goal of the suit is to permanently halt oil exploration and drilling in the channel.

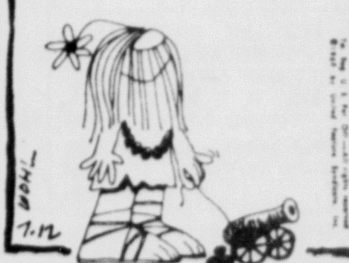

"The personal right is the right to live in and enjoy an environment free from improvident destruction or pollution," the suit said, "and the property right is the right to the ownership, use and enjoyment of property free from improvident invasion or impairment."

A. L. Wirin, Southern California counsel for the ACLU, said if the suit is successful, it could set a precedent for citizens bringing legal actions against other forms of pollution, such as smog.

A call to openness concerning the changes and tensions of our society which are focused in higher education today will be the theme around which the Rev. William R. Van Ness will speak at the 9:30 a.m. worship service tomorrow at the First Presbyterian Church. The sermon topic is "Open Season."

Rev. Van Ness is the Presbyterian university pastor associated with the United Campus Christian Fellowship at the University of California, Santa Barbara. Assisting him in the leadership of worship will be Elder Donald H. Wilcox. The Wilcox family will be honored at the coffee fellowship time following the service. They leave next week for Omaha, Nebr.

He warned that a shutdown of Catholic schools would lead to "financial chaos in the public schools as well" by unloading on them the burden of educating 5 million children who are now being educated in parochial schools at no cost to taxpayers.

The general meeting of the Christian Women's Fellowship will be held at 6:30 p.m., Tuesday in the Fellowship Hall. Planned is a "favorite recipe" potluck with each woman bringing her favorite dish and copies of the recipe for distribution. Program for the evening will be an introduction to the life of a missionary family in the Congo presented through slides to be shown by Mrs. William J. (Betty) Denton. The Denton family served in the Congo with the United Christian Missionary Society from 1959 to 1964.

Related passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following: "That he might liberally pour his dear-brought treasure into empty or sin-filled human storehouses, was the inspiration of Jesus' intense human sacrifice. . . . The purpose of his great life-work extended through time and includes universal humanity."

The Rev. Albert J. Knoll is conducting the services at the United Church during Rev. Harris' absence for the month of July, at school and on family vacation. Services are held Nearly all delegates of the local group will join thousands of other delegates who are coming from all 50 states, 17 countries and islands of the sea. According to Neal Whitaker, presiding minister of Jehovah's witnesses in Lompoc, local services will be suspended for the next two weeks.

"Thousands of cars are flooding the highways this week," he said, "Equipped with bumper signs reading, ' Jehovah's witnesses, Dodge Stadium Assembly, Los Angeles.' We have looked forward to this convention for many months and we are anticipating a program that will instill within us a deeper appreciation for our Christian responsibilities."

A coffee hour in the education building follows each morning worship service. Members and friends of the church are asked by Mrs. E. Dale Bogie, Vacation Church School Director, to please complete registration forms for students and helpers at this year's VCS to be held August 11-22 in the church house and education building.

The youth meeting today and tomorrow is attracting youth from the many congregations in the Central Coast Area. There will be a camp fire devotional tonight with Jim Cowherd as the speaker. Tomorrow at 7 a.m. Virgil Leach will speak on "God, His Bible, and Nature." The closing Boys of the church aged 12 and 15 will attend the Association Youth Camp this week.

Youth camp this year is being held at Camp Celi in the San Bernardino Mountains July 28-August 2. Several young people of the church will attend.

Bringing the message at the Sunday morning service at 10 will be the pastor, Rev. Jim

Calvary Baptist Summer Youth Activities

SUMMER YOUTH ACTIVITIES SLATED AT CALVARY BAPTIST Church in Vandenberg Valley this summer, with two parties scheduled today — a school beach party, and a teenage-age group Hawaiian. This is in addition to their usual Wednesday night “Koinonia” group, and the larger youth groups meet at 6:00 p.m., on Sunday.

Holy Communion services slated

St. Mary’s Episcopal will hold services of Holy Communion this Sunday at the 10 a.m. worship service. A prayer group will meet at Drexell Magness home, Via Dona, Monday evening 7:30, Wednesday evenings of Holy Communion will be held at 7:30, followed by a meeting of the church decision group at 8 p.m.

Father Stuart Fitch will be at Cachuma Camp July 14 with youth from St. Mary’s Church.

Sunday evening service following this first year at the church, will be the month as youth take charge. There will be a special musical, much gospel singing as special music. A special treat will be a Bible study of two chapters of the Gospel of John. Winner will be the youth who will be in a quiz at the youth camp. The Southern California Baptist Bible Fellowship is sponsoring the youth camp. Serving as speaker will be the Rev. T. J. Trel, president of the department. Following the school graduation, the youth will be expected to attend Bible School. The youth camp this year will be held at Camp Celine, Bernardino County, California, 28-August 2. Several people of the church will be attending.

Bringing the message of the Sunday morning service will be the pastor.

Baptists slash youth activities

Summer camp for junior highs, and young people will be held at the church 26 through August 26. The youth camp will be held at the Lake Conference Center, King's Canyon National Park, California. Already between 400 people from California and other states are planning to attend these camps. At Huntington Beach, California, camps will be held for the first time. The camps are directed by the Christian Education Department of the Southern Baptist Conference. The camps are financially staffed by the church.

The youth work was given further impetus last week with the full-time director of the Christian Education and Youth Department, S. Niegocki, with his children, he will be in the Lompoc area to begin his work at Calvary Baptist Church.

The Women's Missionary Society will meet Tuesday, August 13, 7 p.m. in the choir room. Guest speaker, Mrs. Larry Bell, will be the speaker, as a missionary work band in Indonesia.

This is only July but we must award the 1969 prize for self-restraint to East. We have known players to remain quiet when their partners make the most atrocious mistakes, but it takes a real diplomat to remain quiet when his partner follows up his mistakes by criticizing him.

West got off to a good lead. The jack of hearts was the best card he could place on the table. What's more, he continued with the 10 after East played the eight and South the five.

South was in with the king, cashed the ace of clubs and led his deuce of diamonds. At this point, West had an automatic good play at his disposal. He should have played his king of diamonds. This play would hold South to just one diamond trick and might even shut the whole diamond suit out. South might duck in dummy and finesse the next time on the theory that West had started with both king and queen.

However, West played the three and the nine was played from dummy. East made the very good play of letting it hold. This held declarer to two diamond tricks. South abandoned the diamonds, led a club from dummy and went right up with the king after East showed out. Then he cashed the ace of spades and led a second diamond. Once more West should have put up the king but he played low. South went up with dummy's ace and threw West in with that well-preserved king. West was in a double-barreled end play and had to give South his ace-queen of spades and jack of clubs.

While South was scoring the rubber, West said to East, "Couldn't you have taken your queen of diamonds the first time the suit was led?"

Here is where East won the prize. He replied, "Sorry, partner. I pulled the wrong card."

Service news

THAILAND — U.S. Air Force Sergeant Michael T. Halstead, son of retired U.S. Air Force Technical Sergeant and Mrs. Troy Halstead of 4051 Polaris St., is on duty at Ubon Royal Thai AFB, Thailand.

Sergeant Halstead, a communications specialist, is assigned to a unit of the Air Force Communications Service. He previously served at Kadena AB, Okinawa.

The sergeant is a graduate of Lompoc Union High School.

VIETNAM — Marine Corporal James R. Burgess, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Burgess of 1124 N. Lupine, was promoted to his present rank while serving with the First Marine Aircraft Wing in Vietnam.

His promotion was based on time in service and rank, military appearance, and his knowledge of selected military subjects.

The First Marine Aircraft Wing is the air arm of the 111 Marine Amphibious Force in the five northernmost provinces of the Republic of Vietnam operating several hundred aircraft which include fighter, attack, reconnaissance, helicopter and transport aircraft.

U. S. ARMY, VIETNAM — Army Private First Class Charles E. Waller, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Waller of 4036 Clubhouse Road, was assigned June 9 to the 25th Infantry Division in Vietnam, as a combat engineer.

U. S. ARMY, VIETNAM — Army Captain John P. Gritz, 23, son of Mrs. Coral MacKenzie of 506 South St., received the Bronze Star Medal May 30 at his base in Vietnam.

Capt. Gritz received the award for heroism in action while engaged in ground operations against a hostile force in Vietnam.

Commanding officer of Detachment A-233, Company B, 5th Special Forces Group, 1st Special Forces, he entered the Army in June 1966 and was stationed at Ft. Bliss, Tex., before arriving overseas last September. He holds the Combat Infantryman Badge and the Purple Heart.

His father, Paul H. Gritz, lives in Saugus, and his wife, Gloria, resides in Oak View.

MEMPHIS — Airman Apprentice Frank K. Levy Jr., USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Levy of 1337 W. Loquat, was graduated from the Aviation Machinist's Mate jet engine course at the Naval SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman Ken Cory, who asked the rules committee for a telephone extension, found a box containing a pigeon Thursday evening on his chair in the assembly chambers.

A note, signed by committee chairman Eugene Chapple, read in part:

"Due to an unfortunate shortage of telephone equipment, and in accordance with rules committee policy to promote efficiency and economy in assembly operations, we have procured an alternate mode of communication—well tested and proven and with a very low maintenance factor."

Air Technical Training Center in Memphis, Tenn.

The eight week curriculum included jet aircraft engine theory and principles of operation, disassembly and assembly of jet engines, lubrication and ignition systems, engine inspections, plane captain duties and aircraft starting procedures.

Prior to attending this course he graduated from the two-week indoctrination course in naval aviation and the four-week course in Mechanical Fundamentals School.

TV in review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A couple of well-known earthlings from show business have been recruited by the television networks to take part in the programming surrounding man's scheduled landing on the moon.

All of the networks will have continuous programming of the Apollo 11 mission during the critical phase July 20 and 21, during which time the landing by astronauts Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin is expected to take place.

And just in case that's not interesting enough, Duke Ellington and Orson Welles will be on hand to help things along.

ABC-TV announced Thursday that it has commissioned Ellington to "compose and perform an original piece of music to mark man's landing on the moon." It will be presented during the July 20-21 period, at ABC-TV Apollo 11 headquarters in New York.

The network says the music will be for piano, bass and drums. It will take about 10 minutes to perform, and there will be a vocal segment which will be sung by the Duke, who, of course, will also play the piano.

CBS-TV, meanwhile, announced Thursday that Welles, whose radio broadcast of "War of the Worlds" scared a lot of Americans 31 years ago, will narrate a science-fiction film during the July 20-21 period.

Welles, who will appear live from London with CBS-TV European anchorman Mike Wallace, will discuss the relevance of "War of the Worlds" at a time when "the work of science fiction writers appears to be becoming as much fact as fiction."

"War of the Worlds," of course, is a classic science fiction tale, as a story and motion picture as well as that famous radio broadcast.

Oldtimers, and maybe some youngsters, will recall that when the radio show was presented in 1938, many persons were so frightened by the apparent reality of the program that they thought earth had actually been invaded by another planet. There was a jam on switchboards across the nation.

The conversion of science fiction into fact also makes it interesting that one of the analysts on hand with anchorman Walter Cronkite will be Arthur C. Clarke, a leading space authority and author of "2001: A Space Odyssey," the brilliant film by Stanley Kubrick.

Weak pitching? Barthel tosses two-hit 3-0 nod over Vandenberg

By ERIC JACKSON
Sports Writer

It was said the pitching caliber of the Lompoc Babe Ruth League would not be strong enough to hold up in all-star competition. But if yesterday was any indication of what might be expected from the Lompoc hurlers, the Valley team is in for smooth sailing.

Southpaw Joe Barthel, considered the third man in Lompoc's pitching rotation, was inserted by manager Keith McPeck in an effort to save Jeff Bratz, winner of the top pitching award in league, for today's most important game with San Luis.

Barthel surprised Lompoc fans and Vandenberg with a two-hit 3-0 shutout over the Hillmen, as he did not allow a runner to reach second base. The left-hander struck out eight in the win, including fanning Vandenberg's big stick, Dave King, all three times he faced him. King, in regular season play, hit .639 and slugged six home runs.

One inning told the story as both teams were matched evenly throughout the contest, Lompoc managed to put three hits together to score three runs in the bottom of the third frame, banged a double to right-centerfield for Lompoc's second hit of the game, Paul Ortiz then connected with a double, his second hit of the day, and Gray came across the plate for the first run of the game. That proved later to be all the host team needed. With two outs big Mike Kluge rapped his first hit of the tournament, a single, to score Ortiz. Kluge then delighted fans, as the 6-5 giant stole second on the next play. Mike Woodfin hit a fielder's choice to bring home Kluge with Lompoc's third and final run. Vandenberg had opportunities to score in the second, third and fifth innings as they put a runner on first base in each frame. Twice Lompoc converted hard hit balls into double plays and another time catcher Kelly Candaele fired to second base to cut down a runner on an attempted steal.

Barthel looked impressive through the first four innings, and appeared to be getting stronger every inning, as he faced only 13 batters in the first four frames. But the Lompoc hurler opened the fifth by walking Vandenberg rightfielder Bill Boyer on four straight pitches and it looked as though the pressure might have finally caught up. After a conference on the mound with Candaele, the southpaw struck out Doug Wardrip and with the aid of running catch by second baseman Ken Murphy, completed a double play by catching the runner off first.

Paul Ortiz was the top hitter for Lompoc yesterday as he went three for four at the plate with a double and one RBI. The third baseman, who is filling in for Roy Howell who is sitting out this tournament with mumps, has collected four hits in seven trips to the plate this series for a .571 average compared to the .154 mark he carried in league play. Mike Woodfin, who was moved to leftfield in yesterday's game after seeing action behind the plate against Nipomo, continued his hitting streak with a one for three effort and his fifth RBI in two games. Mike Kluge collected his first hit of the tournament in three at bats to drive in a run, and Johnny Gray doubled for Lompoc.

With two victories behind them, Lompoc can be called the tournament favorite as the big hitters on the squad have yet to come through. Barthel, who smashed five homers during the regular season, is 0 for 5, Dave Stegman who hit .375 and played ball for the Lompoc Braves varsity this season as a starting outfielder, is 0 for 4, and Kluge has only one hit in the series.

In yesterday's second game Arroyo Grande shortstop John Moore belted a home run and went two for four with three runs driven in to pace Arroyo Grande to a 13-4 victory over Nipomo in a loser's bracket game. The loss eliminated Nipomo from the tournament while Arroyo Grande takes on the loser of this morning's Lompoc-San Luis Obispo game at 4:30 p.m. Moore also highlighted the Arroyo Grande defensive work yesterday as he pulled out two unassisted double plays. Arroyo Grande went to work quickly against Nipomo to score seven runs in the top of the second and was never headed after that. Nipomo did attempt to come back in the bottom of the second, however, as centerfielder David Humphries hit a two-run homer in a three-run second inning.

Tomorrow's finals pit the Lompoc-San Luis Obispo winner against the winner coming up from the loser's bracket at noon with a second game, if necessary, to be held at 3 p.m.

INTENTLY STUDYING Lompoc pitcher Joe Barthel's delivery, Vandenberg Babe Ruth all-star catcher Matt Goodrich awaits his turn at bat from the on deck circle. But it was in vain as Barthel went on to post a two-hit, 3-0, shutout over Vandenberg to move Lompoc to a 10 a.m. semi-final game with San Luis Obispo this morning.

MEMBERS OF the Vandenberg Village Post 211 Junior Legion baseball team entered the final two weeks of league play today when they traveled to Santa Maria for a clash with Santa Maria. Tomorrow the team takes on host Atascadero. Members of the team are, left to right, front row: Bill Hunt, Pat Dampier, Bruce Atkins, Sammy Thompson and Mark Mead. Center row:

Rick Martinich, Tony Mason, Mark Ervin, David Dunn and Ernie Martin. Back row: Bob Fields, Terry Leone, Mac Fisher, Ray Moore, Don Novak and Scott Stuart. Vandenberg entered this week's round of games tied with Lompoc and San Luis Obispo for the lead as each has lost two games.

Reasons for retirement talk shows gridders don't use same play book

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—This can be a terribly frightening business.

You take what happened the other day, for example.

The wires here in the office begun humming and word filtered clear across the country about a news conference in San Francisco at which another quarterback was talking about retiring.

My heart was in my mouth there for a minute.

I thought it was Terry Nofsinger.

But I found out he retired last year. Hardly bothered telling anybody about it, either. A brief telephone conversation did the trick. He and the Atlanta people got to talking money over the phone one day and when Nofsinger heard what they had in mind he thought he had a bad connection, but when he found out it was the Falcons and not the phone, he told them goodbye, good luck and he'd come see them play some day, who knows, maybe even in the super bowl.

So this wasn't good old Terry talking about quitting in San Francisco the other day, it was Earl Morrall, the Baltimore Colts' quarterback and Most Valuable Player in the National Football League last season.

Morrall didn't say he was definitely retiring, he only said maybe. He said he was "thinking seriously" about it and he'd know for sure in a few more days.

One thing you have to say for all these quarterbacks, they aren't using the same play book.

Joe Namath quit because he was threatened with the loss of his saloon; Don Meredith hung up his helmet because he lost his enthusiasm. Now Morrall sounds as if he wants to find out whether he's lost any caste with the Colts.

Johnny Unitas, who used to be Baltimore's No. 1 quarterback, says his arm is sound again and he's ready to go. If that's true and Unitas is back to where he used to be as the last word among all quarterbacks, there can be only one job for Morrall with Baltimore. Backup quarterback. And once you've been No. 1, and MVP along with it, the readjustment to No. 2 again comes a little hard.

Additionally, Morrall is 35 and that isn't a bad age for a pro quarterback to retire. To make it a bit sweeter, Morrall is a business executive. Off the field he's Vice President Earl Morrall.

There's another factor, too, Money. Everybody poo-hoo-hoo's it but everybody wants it. Morrall says he doesn't think he'll play anymore unless the Colts show they really want him. You get one guess how they can best show they want him.

I like what Earl Morrall says he'll do if the Colts bear down extra hard and prove to him they absolutely have to have him.

"If this is the way the conversation goes, I think I'd play again," he admits. "If this is the way it is presented in talking with them . . . if they really need me and want me back, I think this is the direction I'd go. Yet the president of our company wants my services also . . ."

What a dilemma. Remember when Namath said there were at least two or three better quarterbacks than Morrall in the AFL? This was before the Super Bowl game between the Jets and Colts.

With his latest pronouncement, Morrall at least is showing Namath he's in the same retirement class as him. Morrall also is realistic enough to know the result if both he and Namath make their retirements stick.

"Football will survive," he says.

There's one little sidelight to this sudden epidemic of retirements. In case you haven't noticed, George Sauer, Jr., the Jets' fine split end who was one of those who insisted he'd quit, too, if Namath did, has unretired and is back with the team again.

Nobody has had any word from Terry Nofsinger, though. Do you suppose he really means it?

Spitz ties own world swim mark

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (UPI)—Mark Spitz acts as if he really means business this time.

A year ago, everyone was saying he was a sure bet to become the Olympic Games first five gold medal winner. It didn't turn out that way. In fact, he won only two golds, both in relay races.

This is a new year, though, and he seems headed in the right direction, if his performance Friday at the Santa Clara Invitation Swim Classic can be used as a barometer.

Spitz took the 100-meter butterfly in 55.6 seconds to tie his own world record in the event, and today he shoots for Dan Schollander's 200-meter freestyle word record of 1:54.3.

He has had Schollander's mark as his goal ever since the current season got underway, and it remains his target "until I get it."

The men's 200-meter backstroke and the 100-meter breaststroke are two other events worth watching today, the second day of the three-day carnival which is being televised nationally (ABC).

In the backstroke, Mitch Ivey, who lost to world record holder Roland Matthes of East Germany in the 100 backstroke Friday, meets the German again. Matthes won the shorter race in the meet record time of 58.5 and Ivey was second in 1:01.1.

Jacklin holds lead at England

LYTHAM ST. ANNES, England (UPI) — Young Tony Jacklin carried the hopes of Britain today into the final round of the British Open championship which hasn't gone to home-grown talent in 18 years.

It could be too much responsibility for his young shoulders to bear and he admitted "it's a strain" carrying the two-stroke lead at 208. Should he wilt under the strain as he did in the final round last year, there's a dangerous challenger ready to take over—Jack Nicklaus.

The big, blond, Columbus, Ohio, pro struck true form at last to shoot a three-under-par 68 Friday to get within five strokes of Jacklin. Between them are four more formidable and experienced men so the 30,000 sterling ($72,000) tournament is still as "open" as when the 130 golfers started Wednesday.

New Zealand left-hander Bob Charles, leader after two rounds, and veteran Irish Ryder Cup player Christy O'Connor, were tied for second at 210.

Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina, winner in 1967 at the age of 44, zoomed into a third place tie at 211 with a 66 on an eagle and three birdies.

Australian Peter Thomson, bidding for his sixth title, shared third place and since this course is made for an iron specialist, he must be regarded a dangerous challenger.

South African Gary Player hit even worse trouble despite playing "as well as I've ever done," with three successive double bogies. The defending champion finished with a 76 for 218.

All told, nine of the 11 Americans who made the cut after Thursday's round were among the 46 final-round qualifiers.

Houston's Wilson works out anger against Reds

By JOE CARNICELLI
UPI Sports Writer

Don Wilson really doesn't dislike the Cincinnati Reds—as long as they keep losing to him.

Wilson and the Reds exchanged verbal barbs earlier this season when Wilson pitched a no-hitter against Cincinnati. Wilson accused the Reds of "running up the score" in a previous 14-0 victory and the Reds, in turn, called him a crybaby. They've been at each others' throats ever since but Wilson seems to be running ahead.

He pitched a six-hitter Friday night and Houston exploded for nine runs in the sixth inning as the Astros clubbed the Reds 13-2.

"I'm not mad at them anymore," said Wilson. "I've beaten them the last couple of games." Wilson said he was happier to win the game "because I've never won 10 this early in the season before" rather than just beating the Reds.

Elsewhere, Atlanta downed

San Diego 6-3, San Francisco edged Los Angeles 6-4 in 10 innings, Philadelphia stunned Chicago, 7-5, Montreal blasted New York, 11-4 and St. Louis beat Pittsburgh, 6-1.

Denis Menke drove in four runs—three with a bases loaded triple in the sixth—as the Astros put together six hits, five walks and a hit batsman for their nine runs. Jim Wynn and Sandy Valdespino drove in two runs each during the inning.

Pinch-hitter Bob Aspromonte singled in two runs to highlight a three-run ninth inning rally that gave Atlanta its victory over the Padres, moving the Braves back into the lead in the NL's Western Division.

Aspromonte's hit came after the Braves loaded the bases on Orlando Cepeda's single and walks to Bob Tillyman and Tito Francona. Francona scored on Felipe Alou's single.

Bobby Bonds singled in two runs in the top of the 10th inning to pace the Giants over Los Angeles and knock the Dodgers out of the Western Division lead. Hal Lanier singled and Dick Dietz walked and the runners advanced on a sacrifice before Bonds' hit. Bonds had scored the tying run in the inning before on an error after Willie Mays singled in a run.

Home runs by Johnny Briggs, his second of the game, and Ron Stone, his first in the majors, triggered a four-run ninth inning rally that lifted the Phils over the Cubs.

Briggs led off the ninth with a homer and one out later. Stone connected to tie the score. Successive singles by Mike Ryan, Dave Watson and Tony Taylor provided the tie-breaking run and Larry Hise knocked in another.

Pitcher Mike Wegener drove in four runs with two singles and a double and Mack Jones and Bobby Wine homered as the Expos trounced the Mets. Wegener singled in the Expos' first run in the second inning and capped a four-run third inning rally with a three-run double.

Lou Brock and Vada Pinson drove in two runs each as the Cardinals scored five runs in the seventh inning enroute to their triumph over the Pirates. Julian Javier doubled and Vic Davalillo and winner Steve Carlton walked to fill the bases. Brock singled in two runs, Curt Flood doubled in another and Pinson knocked in two more.

Namath expected to be in Jets summer camp

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Joe Namath will end his one-month "retirement" when he reports to the New York Jets' training camp within the next 48 hours.

The United Press International learned Friday Namath plans to arrive at the Jets' camp at Hofstra University in Hempstead, N.Y. before the noon Sunday deadline for the regulars to report to start drills for the world champions' 1969 campaign.

But it was still uncertain whether Namath plans to sell his interest in the controversial nightspot, Bachelors III, or whether he'll force the hand of Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who has said Namath will be suspended if he reports still owning a share of the nightclub.

Rozelle ordered Namath to sell his interest because "undesirables" were frequenting the Manhattan bar on the Upper East Side but on June 6th Namath announced with tears in his eyes that he would quit rather than sell.

Some of Namath's friends have now indicated that the 26-year-old quarterback may have decided to force Rozelle to suspend him so he can go into court and claim he's being deprived of an opportunity of making a living.

Although there were some reports at the time of Namath's retirement that the police were ready to raid Bachelors III, there has been no legal action of any kind taken against the nightspot.

Horsemen to hold gymkhana

The Vandenberg Saddle Club will hold an open gymkhana beginning at 10 a.m. on Sunday, July 20, at the Punch Bowl Arena located east of the Lompoc-Casmalia Highway near Vandenberg AFB, it was reported today.

There will be the regular events in the three age groups (12 and under; 13 through 17 years and 18 years and older) with additional events and a jackpot equitation contest. Ribbons will be awarded to the first five places with high point trophies for each class.

Entry fees of 50 cents per event or $3.50 for the entire day's events will be charged. The club concession stand will be open. The event is open to the public, free of charge. Contestants may obtain entry blanks at all local feed and western wear stores or from the Vandenberg Saddle Club, P.O. Box 952, Vandenberg Air Force Base, 93437. Post entries will be accepted on the day of the gymkhana.

If Namath reports to the Jets' camp Sunday without selling his interest, general manager and coach Weeb Ewbank will be forced to tell Namath that he is under suspension by directive of the commissioner's office.

As recently as last Tuesday, Namath said there was "nothing new" about his coming back to the Jets, but sometime in the last 72 hours he made his new decision. Namath revealed he changed his mind about quitting to only a few of his closest associates.

Namath has been in Los Angeles making a film and said he would have an announcement about his change in plans, "later on."

Several of the other players on the Jets had said they would quit if Namath did, but one of them, split end George Sauer Jr., already has joined the team for practice sessions. Sauer has declined to say what changed his mind. Sauer caught eight Namath passes for 133 yards in the Jets' stunning 16-7 victory over the Baltimore Colts in the Super Bowl.

Senior all-star alternates named

Five players were inadvertently left off the roster of the Village-Hills Senior League all-star team announced Wednesday, it was reported today by a league official.

Those players who were left off of the roster were Bill Tucker of the Padres, and alternates John Meneley of the Padres, George Vitrakis of the Expos and David Martin and John Edgar of the Royals.

The team will make its post-season tournament playoff action debut, Saturday, July 26, when it will host the Morro Bay Senior League all-stars in a game to be held on the Cabrillo High School diamond.

Lompoc five takes third cage triumph

Lompoc's summerbasketball team won its third game against one loss, with a 65-59 decision over Righetti II in Thursday night's Righetti League action. Nelson Carter, the Braves top scorer, took game honors with 18 points. Carter carries a 13.3 average, having scored 53 points in the four league games. John Fridrich meshed 14 and Roy Thomas had 16 for Lompoc.

Righetti II, a team composed of last year's Righetti freshman cagers, was led by Henry Delgado with 16 points. Dennis and Doug DeGuise added 13 and 11 points for Righetti II, while Rick Jones was the other Warrior to score in doubles figures as he netted 11 in a losing effort.

Campaign for 'paper gold'

PARIS — Behind the scenes, top European monetary authorities meeting here with the new French financial team are convinced that the Nixon Administration has now begun a carefully mapped campaign for "paper gold." Washington, they say privately, seems determined to force the creation of huge, special drawing rights (the so-called "paper gold") through the International Monetary Fund in a proposed amount that, like the Eiffel Tower, goes straight up.

Moreover, U.S. Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy is emerging as a hero in their book, a place likewise held by Federal Reserve Board Chairman William McC. Martin. They are at the very center of the powder magazine that sits under today's world currencies, and in special charge of the detonators.

Expanding on the initial $1 billion in "paper gold," Washington's probing here started with a figure of around $2 billion a year.

Now Washington is talking about more than twice that much. Currently the figure sounds like $5 billion. Seeing this constant revision upward, the impression grows here that the Nixon Administration has made up its mind that only a massive amount of "paper gold" would mean anything against the recurrent jolts that plague world trade like werewolves on the loose.

The hush-hush Washington decisions saw more than $1 billion in U.S. gold physically shipped from Ft. Knox to Britain to support the pound in England's 1967 gold rush. And four days before London devalued the pound our gold reserve broke below $13 billion, another new low for 29 years. Then we lost $475 million more in the few days ending with Britain's devaluation.

Yet the British pound is again in severe difficulty. The checkerboard world of international finance is on the alert and in sharp dismay. England cannot defend the pound without revamping the Wilson government's programs. But defend its programs the Wilson government must, or go down politically.

We face this pound-support crisis with a remaining gold reserve of less than $11 billion, of which $1 billion is mortgaged to the International Monetary Fund, plus a nearly incredible excess of obligations that are beyond our ability to meet them. U.S. short-term obligations payable in gold to foreign banks, companies and individuals now exceed $32 billion.

The French jolts started when De Gaulle raided our dwindling gold reserve and increased France's by 500 per cent above what it was in 1958. De Gaulle even induced Algiers to take $100 million of our gold right at the height of the British pound crisis and he converted all of France's dollars to gold, except a $600 million working balance. Then France's gold and currency reserve plunged $403 million in a single week in De Gaulle's subsequent attempt to support the franc against devaluation — a still-threatening jolt to world finance which new Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing himself admits "will be hard to avoid."

The jolts to the German mark, in turn, have been even larger than revealed. The currency structure felt these jolts last November and again this April when central banks — and international money speculators — grew mistakenly convinced that Bonn would revalue the Deutsche mark upward. German bankers told me in Frankfurt that actually $2.7 billion went into the mark, took a merciless shelling when the "sure thing" did not happen, and went out of the mark.

The over-all effect is to give the London gold market and currency exchange rates about as much economic stability as a floating crap game.

In unreported conferences with Pierre - Paul Schweitzer, managing director of the International Monetary Fund, Federal Reserve Board Chairman Martin has insisted that world currency reserves be somehow boosted and called the special drawing rights "ideally suited" in today's emergency. Then, to an audience hanging on his every word at the recent American Bankers Association meeting in Copenhagen, Mr. Martin warned that "world financial markets face a collapse unless there is a return to basic sound-money principles." And Treasury Secretary Kennedy sent a private message of complete concurrence regarding a potential debacle.

The choices narrow every day. "Paper gold" is no remedy for our past financial irresponsibility, but our nation with its currency under attack in the middle of an interminable Southeast Asian war has few options in defense of a dollar to which the currencies of the entire free world are tied.

Letter to the editor

Zeus's Brothers

From space's dark deep hold comes Apollo's glint of gold. Steel and mold flint and fire, from a power that's much higher, comes the life of an astronaut destined to go where he ought. Fire burn and fire die, into the heavens he does fly. With a million pounds of thrust he blows away the ages dust. Unshackled free and tracking flame, he goes about his perilous game. Playing with the stars from birth he thinks only of their worth.

All their hearts go along with him as they see the burning gem. Fire and sun burn away his shame. Come and join, help him take aim. A soul's dark and dismal voice screams from within to make a choice. Take your heart and fly with him, while millions sing for you a hymn. Shoot away and fly forever, for the earth, again, you may see never. Clutch your steed by the teather, lead him into space's shining dark heather. Pull tight upon his bit, spur him round and make him spit. Keep the fire inside him burning, and his star born heart a yearning. Spin him round and make him fly into that mysterious bright black sky.

Think what a meager life you now live. Taking, taking, nothing to give.

nuclear materials which could be used for war, the research, development and deployment of new weapons in other countries, lasers, electronic countermeasures and other missile penetration devices.

The list stretches on indefinitely. For it is in the nature of countries, that, deprived of one weapon or limited in its use, they will devise other weapons or radical improvements in the weapons they're allowed to keep.

Since science cannot be stilled, new discoveries and adaptations probably will upset tentative agreements on balances even while the negotiations are going on.

Human nature being what it is, it is interesting to note what U.S. farmers did when faced with acreage cutbacks and other crop controls. The result, it will be recalled, was the greatest farm production advance in history as the farmers attempted with improved methods to offset the loss of the acres they were no longer allowed to farm.

It will be recalled that Napoleon, after defeating the German armies, forced on the Germans a requirement that their standing forces be limited in size. The Germans kept this agreement. But they kept each man in the army (contrary to custom) for only a short term. This enabled the Germans to train large numbers of troops and, in effect, build a large army. It proved very effective later against the French.

It is recognized that arms control agreements, likewise, could stimulate an even larger technological arms race.

Nevertheless, there is real optimism. The rewards of success are too great to ignore, the price of failure too costly.

Arms pact

WASHINGTON (NEA)

The estimate here in the highest circles of government is that there is a reasonably good chance of fruitful arms control talks with the Soviet Union.

The estimate does not assume Moscow is becoming peace-minded or less determined to use force and threats of force in pursuing Soviet objectives.

It assumes the Russian negotiators will do their best to trick the United States into a position of defense inferiority.

It anticipates enforcement problems of unbelievable magnitude.

It recognizes that Russians are hard bargainers who come with their homework done and that they will be in no hurry to reach decisions on details. They will play for propaganda advantages and use the conference, if possible, to box the United States into a corner to achieve some advantage in the Middle East, Asia or Africa.

It assumes the Russians are pragmatic and hard-headed and that they will not be deterred from seeking an agreement by American moves to produce or not produce an anti-ballistic missile system or by continuing U.S. experimenting with MIRV, in which one missile carries several warheads, each deliverable to a different target.

The estimate assumes a general arms control agreement in principle could conceivably be realized rather quickly. It assumes such an agreement wouldn't be worth the paper it was written on.

An agreement on practical details will take years to accomplish.

Under the best of circumstances, agreement on details will be a rock road. It will undoubtedly be necessary to reach partial agreements—piecemeal.

When practical agreements are reached after years of negotiating, scientific and technical advances and other changing conditions, (such as, for example, Red Chinese advances) will probably make it necessary to continue negotiations on modifications indefinitely. Some presidential advisors use the word permanently.

The problems almost defy description.

The definition and comparison of weapons will be an almost impossible task. How does one type of intercontinental missile compare with another type and, therefore, how does one balance off against the other? That is, for example, how does a giant SS-9 Russian missile balance off against the much smaller Minuteman?

How do intermediate-range missiles aimed at Europe balance off against intercontinental types?

How do Polarix-type submarines balance off against bombers?

Then there are the problems of chemical and biological weapons, aircraft carriers, MIRV, and production for peaceful purposes of large amounts of
